Wildebeest Migration Safari in Tanzania

The Wildebeests Migration Safari starts in Tanzania and the herds spend most of their time in Serengeti Tanzania. The herds can be seen in Southern Serengeti and Ndutu Plains during the months of December through February every year and they move towards the Central Serengeti between March and April each year. From June to July the herds can be located from the Western corridor of the Serengeti National Park as they move up north in big groups, ultimately reaching the Mara river where they dare the crocodile infested river and cross over to Masai Mara Game Reserve in Kenya.
